

INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION

Use intercultural management to strengthen your business cooperation with France

Do you lead projects with French companies? Will your company soon merge with a French organization? Do you plan to expand to the French market?

You might have experienced challenges when dealing with foreign customers or partners. Because we come from different cultures, we don't communicate and behave in the same way.

Many partner companies in Denmark and France - like yours - seek to reinforce collaboration and improve intercultural project management. In order to do so, it is important to interact on equal terms and to make an advantage of your differences and similarities.

We offer you an Intercultural Communication Seminar to give you insights into the French corporate culture and working behavior. Specifically based on your team's challenges, these interactive workshops explore how to respond to cultural differences through concrete problem solving and role plays.
